ABOUT THE FILMMAKERS

Adam Schram (Director)

Adam has a Masters degree in Multimedia from the Academy of Art University. Originally from Chicago, Adam moved to Los Angeles upon graduating from art school in San Francisco.

He has worked in many different capacities over the years in the entertainment field including director, writer, editor, animator and actor. Some of his directorial credits include Alcohol & H2O, My Own Daisen and Eternal Bliss. Most recently Adam worked as the Art Director for the Print, Web & Motion Graphics department of Fortitude Entertainment Group in Burbank, CA.

Adam currently lives in New York with his wife, Sharon and their bunny, Peanut. Their production company, Sundown Productions, is currently working on their next film.

Sharon Schram (Writer, Producer)

Sharon graduated from Vanderbilt University with a double major in Economics and Business Administration and a minor in Mathematics. Sharon then worked for Lucent Technologies in Fiber Optics Telecommunications as a Product Manager, but realized something was missing.

Originally from New Jersey, Sharon began working as an actor in local commercials and became a weekly correspondent on the TV show, The Pet Stop, where she brought on and talked about abandoned and abused animals.

Sharon retired from Lucent and took the plunge and moved to Los Angeles, where she discovered her love for filmmaking. Her new found passion brought her back to NYC, where she currently resides.

Adam & Sharon Schram (Writers & Producers)

We are a husband & wife team. We met at an improv class in Los Angeles and were reintroduced years later on a blind date. We went to our first film festival together in 2004. We were so inspired that we started talking about doing our own projects. In 2007 we got into that very festival that started it all with our first short, Chance. We have both individually worked in the entertainment industry in various capacities and now, we are focusing on telling compelling and thought provoking, character driven stories together.
